Evidence ladder: what each claim needs

DEVELOPMENT DATA

Concept diagram (no data). A knockout measures what a message did, not whether it should have done it.

Uncertainty If the information set cannot separate a twin pair, the supported answer is to abstain at that rung (identifiability), not to guess.
Equivalence under a fixed set is definitional; the measured claims are the frontier, the pipeline symmetry check, prevalence and baseline behaviour.

